

The UK Psoriasis Help Forum

Using the Forum To use the full functionality of the forum you will need to register. When you register please provide a valid email address as you will not be able to use all the functions of the forum if you don't. Your email address will never be used for promotional purposes and we will not try to sell you anything. Please remember that this site is totally non profit making. When you first register for the Psoriasis Forum you get the opportunity to hide your email address from the public. This means it will not be displayed in your message posts or your profile to other members. If you are concerned about Spam why not set-up a free web based service? There is a list of free services here:

<http://www.emailaddresses.com/>Please Note: Ticking the "hide my e-mail" box will still allow you to see it, but not anyone else. The reason that you can still see it is in case you need to change it you can easily see what it is set to.Existing MembersNew MembersLogin HereRegister Here

Clicking on the above link and entering the forum means you have read and accept this sites Terms of Use. Click here for details..